

Global: WARM-ing : WARN-ing : or WAR-ing

Of Consequences, Conclusions and causes.

NOW Enlarged with sceptic backlash.

Mass media tells us of rising sea level and reports on storms and hurricanes. Al Gore explains the evidence of pollution reaching levels far beyond known history of earth and confirms evidence of glaciers melting at amazing speed. Now lets look at evidence not shouted from the rooftops and realize that this war is for survival.

Most debate about Global Warming is pathetic. Politicians have no respect for each other and no informed viewer can respect their views. Serious TV can add to the problem by explores the irrational to create worry while politicians rave on to avoid action.

Did Globalists, who own the Commercial empire, see the opportunity of using global pollution to eliminate the threat of huge unneeded population without blame focused on themselves? All they needed do was encourage polluting waste and shush consequences. Global Warming seems so comfortable to live with.

El Nino research has now added significantly to understanding of changing sea currents and effects on weather patterns of such global significance as to have destroyed the Moche civilization in Peru. It is shown that Moche culture (comparable with the Maya and Aztecs) was weakened to destruction by a long period of violent weather, (now earth science confirmed). The destructiveness was aided then, as today, by cultural behaviour based on worship of false ideology.

If governments had concern for the people on whose behalf they say they govern, "Global Warming" would have been called "Global Warning"! Leading nations would already have taken urgent action; outlawed war; ceased arms production with full inspection of facilities; introduced clean technology (already demonstrated that over 90% of private car use can be done by electric cars fuelled by sun energy collected from the roof of your house. But! Commerce owns car factories, oil, and political parties.

Pull out of Iraq would save $billions that could be paid to Iraqis for hand-in of arms. Would these brutalised people not grab at any honest gesture?

Stopping war and arms manufacture would itself make a very useful and quick reduction in waste of energy, resource-materials and pollution. Survival now needs armies trained for rescue and repair, not for unprovoked assault, creation of fear and hate.

The price of energy (electricity, fuel) would be increased to a point where users would think twice about waste! The money saved, and tax gained by these steps, would be devoted to urgent research directed to cleaning polluting fuels; to providing solar energy and first flush water collection systems for private housing.

Such steps would impress on people that upsetting the balance of nature has very serious consequences. All should be prepared to face unknown flow-on effects. The technology is already at hand for cutting both pollution and cost but the city of commerce lives off inefficiency and political deceit. Planned or not, all dedicated ENVIRONMENTAL scientists agree, this is a war for survival far more serious than anything faced in previous human history.

To talk of living standards as a priority – to talk of research and constructions needing 20 years or more to start having effect – is for the future; we need significant change now.

The first 25% (at least) of pollutants reduction needs be, and with public help could be, beneficially eliminated in two years. The technology is waiting intelligent action.

World political outlook fits genocide better than it fits suicide. Bowing to commercial greed, quisling governments, have delivered us into a global trap?

The "Global 2000 Club", an elite Organization within the "Club of Rome", has revealed its GENOCIDE plan. (It was submitted by the U.S. State Department, and Council on Environmental Quality, to President Carter). Endorsed as official policy 1980. (USA Congressional Records).

Malthus (1766-1834) revealed problems. Globalist elite sees unneeded people as a threat. The above report called for deletion of two billion of us by year 2000. Why has no one warned of the effect of shifting huge weight of water from the poles to the oceans? Upset to balance of tectonic plates has consequences!

Volcanoes; earthquakes; earth change; violent weather; these are already increasing, while melting permafrost is reported to be releasing global-warming pollutants in excess of human stupidity. Once forces get out of balance they increase naturally. Changed earth loads leading to even one super volcanic eruption, could disable even the greatest nation and have recycling effects on the living areas of the entire earth.

How fast can natural forces build? Do we remember that extinct animals were found in frozen Siberia with tropical vegetation in their mouths? The Al Gore video "An Inconvenient Truth" points to air pollution already way off the historic chart. He reminds us that extreme change can occur quickly and is neither even nor gradual!

Are we not already seeing changes that, compounded, will devastate very large populations? Crops fail because of drought, others destroyed by out of season floods, storms, etc., deaths, through malnutrition and unusual events must already have caused death of hundreds of thousands?

Why do all facts not have compulsory display on all media? Yes, TV does warn, but no mention of weight change effects on earth's fragile crust, tectonic moves can cause islands to sink; change ocean currents; create El Nino weather forces. Large populations have pathetic, child like dependence on public services. Philosophy, based on false social values, will promote violent social behaviour in emergency!

If the evidence is true, and in light of latest reports it's hard to deny, the floating plates of earth on which we all live will have their stability changed as huge weight moves from ends of earth to oceans.

This theory helps explain much in relation to past earth-changes. As a younger earth settled to relative stability unusual events, such as a super volcanic eruption or meteor strike, may cause, by pollution, upset of global balance. Upset to balance of the tectonic plates increase volcanic pollution; realignment of weather; even move the magnetic poles. This progression ends as the earth settles into a new stability.

That was the past! Humanity now adds "industrial pollution" to causes. In a few years will we see we have not done enough? Will there be worldwide panic? Can we take that chance? Where will it end?

Had we (as entitled) taken responsibility for our own governing, then the evidence of global warming could not have been hidden. Misled activists, promoting information in unconvincing ways, would not have lulled us into a sense of false security. Honestly informed people would have acted responsibly! Is it not too late?

This is not a religious leaflet but the coincidence of Bible and world events is worth serious thought. Are we about to fulfil Bible prophecy: Gospels Matthew 24: 21-22. and in Revelation of John 17.18?

Did Globalists, with evidence and knowledge of global forces, seek to take advantage of, or misjudge, the obvious danger? Why do they play down serious matters and highly promote trivia of entertainment, sports, fads and fashions? Air travel, generated by world sport alone created a serious increase of atmospheric pollution. Disperse industrial production and Global transport creates a huge polluter! Offsetting pollution with tree planting encourages evasion not cure.

Globalists create injustice, war and terror, rather than warn of dangers! They created artificial drugs to profit from unhealthy lifestyle promotions. Owning or controlling all the important industries, gives power to control the selection of government members through the "party system". They then disguise their dictatorship by incessant mass media promotion of this as democracy.

Is the idea that we have 'democracy' being continually pushed into our minds because, if we stop to think of it, we can see that what we have is, so obviously, not democracy?

If we COULD force governments to act, we could still, as pointed out, act quickly. But, we have no time to waste on quisling governments that have combined to cause the problem. As we already see, they will talk loud but evade effective action. If we don't alert ourselves, political procrastination will take us past the point of no return.

There is potential to end all human life on earth. Intelligent action, if we have the will to take it, will eliminate the "Great Whore" of commerce as foretold in Revelation.

Will Global Warning cause concerned people to act in their own defence?

Global WARNING: the sceptic backlash!

Smart backlash against global warming is having its say but let's not get carried away by feel good righteousness, I too was a sceptic before the evidence came in. We are well aware that climates change naturally – that politically motivated groups make great play of disasters – that animals become extinct – these are not new!

Comfort should not direct human behaviour! We have been behaving with incredible stupidity and in disregard of consequences – we waste huge resources for no life benefit – create huge pollution of atmosphere to our own detriment – our philosophy is creating murderous behaviour at home and abroad.

The balance of nature is finely tuned! The difference (in human terms) between a gradual change and catastrophic change is more likely to be caused by human stupidity than by nature alone. Those who don't want to admit to their share of the problem will try to stop all sensible response until it's too late.

Have you noticed reports of abnormal sea level rise around some islands? The tectonic plates of earth in some areas dip down in others push up, in times of change these movements can be sudden, you don't want to be living on a disappearing island!

Look at it as you like but, unless there is a huge change in human philosophy and behaviour, we will mindlessly destroy ourselves in one way or another. If we understand the problem we can do more than just help ourselves. See evidence is on this www site.
